The list of companies as above presented is indicative of the general insurance activity just prior to the Smyrna fire, September 13, 1922. The unwillingness of foreign companies to pay losses for this fire, their contention being that it was the result of war, resulted in their practical retirement from this field, so that at the present time it may be said that the only companies active in Constantinople are the French Union de Paris; a local organization, the Societe d'Assurances Generales de Constantinople, with a capital of about $230,000, and an Italian association, probably under Italian Government sanction, called the Instituto Nazionale delle Assicurazioni.*

*We understand that the Fidelity Phenix Fire Insurance Company of New York has been duly registered and licensed in Turkey since September 13, 1922, and is now actively engaged in business therein.

The activity of the American companies in Turkey since their entry March, 1920, was always attended by keen competition and other difficulties which might be ascribed to a certain amount of antagonistic propaganda. It is doubtful whether, to any great extent, they will ever re-enter this territory, though they had succeeded in establishing an excellent foothold by virtue of honesty and merit in their dealings. Insurance business in Turkey, however, cannot be regarded as having been profitable to foreign participants, yet there is said to be a considerable amount of business transacted at the present time by unofficial representatives of certain English companies, who quietly seek the business of the larger corporations.

URUGUAY (MONTEVIDEO).

In 1911 the writing of life, labor, accident and fire insurance was declared a State monopoly. The companies then practicing were permitted to continue business, but it is not the policy of the Government to admit new companies. The State Insurance Bank was created to write insurance in accordance with the above law.

The following companies are represented in Montevideo: La Uruguaya; Standard Life; Franco-Argentino, and La Providencia.

It writes life, endowment, fire and marine insurance and reinsures in the English companies: The Guardian, London, and Hamilton, Smith & Co. The Compaña Venezolana de Seguros merged with this company during 1915.

A foreign insurance company must own unencumbered real estate in Venezuela worth at least 200,000 bolivars in order to secure a license, the amount to be fixed by the National Executive. In the case of foreign life insurance companies the minimum is 600,000 bolivars.

There is a mutual life insurance club at Caracas called "La Mutual," but it is not considered prosperous and has had difficulties in collecting assessments.

INSURANCE CLASSES

Universities, Colleges and Insurance Societies Conducting Insurance Educational Courses

The growing importance of insurance, in its numerous and varied phases, in the economic progress of the country, is yearly becoming better recognized by educators and others outside of the insurance business. This is apparent from the number of insurance study courses which have been established by universities, colleges, societies, etc.

While some of the courses are conducted by insurance societies, mostly co-operating with the Insurance Institute of America, a considerable number of others are conducted by State and other universities and colleges, with which the insurance course constitutes but one feature of their curricula. The addition of special courses relating to insurance has been, to a large extent, a recent development; but more centers of learning are adding such courses yearly.

DIRECTORY OF INSURANCE AGENTS

The Value of HARTFORD Protection—

THROUGH national advertising and the educational work being carried on by Hartford field men and Hartford local representatives the property owners of America are being taught to appreciate the unusual value of the protection offered them by the Hartford Fire Insurance Company.

Individuals who are responsible for the insurance protection of valuable properties appreciate the "loss prevention" service that is given by Hartford engineers and realize that there is no more certain indemnity than that which the Hartford offers.

Surplus Line Department

We are able to immediately cover large amounts on desirable risks irrespective of other amounts on the same properties obtained through other channels.

For more than thirty years we have conducted this department of business with European and American offices and our facilities are unequalled.

There never is trouble, vexation, or delay in the adjustment of losses when forms have been drawn and risks have been placed through our office.

UP-TO-DATE LIFE INSURANCE LEAFLETS

THE WELL KNOWN BUSINESS BUILDING PUBLICATIONS
By William T. Nash. The leaflets and other publications of which Mr. Nash is the author, and The Spectator Company the publishers, are now regarded by company officials, agents and life insurance men generally as being business builders and business conservers of almost inconceivable value. Since agents are writing millions of new business and companies are holding and reclaiming millions of tottering old business, all through the wide distribution of these publications among prospects and policyholders, their value cannot well be overestimated. The life insurance man who is not using these human, true to life and most effective appeals to the un-insured and the under-insured, would do well to begin now by placing his order with The Spectator Company. Send for the Business Builders Service, a folder describing how to use the Nash leaflets effectively.

Hundreds of thousands of this leaflet are sent out by companies to their borrowers and policyholders and with surprising results. Prices, sample copy, 10 cents; 50 copies, $2.50; 100 copies, $4.50; 500 copies, $18.00; 1,000 copies, $30.00; 5,000 copies, $120.00; 10,000 copies, $225.00.

BUCK ADAMS' WILL

This fascinating and touching little story is particularly adapted for distribution among college students and others whose parents are denying themselves to give their sons a start in life. Prices, sample copy, 10 cents; 50 copies, $4.50; 100 copies, $7.50; 500 copies, $30.00; 1,000 copies, $50.00; 5,000 copies, $200.00; 10,000 copies, $375.00.

THE COST OF DYING

It is safe to say that no other life insurance leaflet ever produced has been the means of selling a greater number of large policies. It deals with the inheritance tax and other death demands upon the estate. Many policies ranging in amount from $25,000 to $200,000 have been written simply by giving a copy of this booklet to a prospect to read. Prices, sample copy, 25 cents; 50 copies, $8.50; 100 copies, $15.00; 500 copies, $60.00; 1,000 copies, $100.00; 5,000 copies, $400.00

It is the experience of one farmer and shows what life insurance had done for him as well as for some of his neighbors. Then this farmer cites other cases showing what hardships had been suffered by the families of other farmers who had put off life insurance until it was too late. This leaflet is one of the strongest appeals to the farmer ever written. A leaflet showing the value of life insurance as an investment to the farmer (in Press).

WIFE'S INSURANCE, THE
It is well known that the average man when left without means and with a family of young children to care for, is quite as helpless as would be the mother herself. This leaflet makes it clear that the wife also should have some insurance for her children. As an example of what this leaflet will do, a certain agent sent a copy to each of his policyholders in one little corner of a farming county and a few days later began following them up. He wrote $51,000 in one month on the wives of these policyholders. Companies are daily using great numbers of these leaflets for this purpose.
